UPCOMING TRAININGS

September 20th
Staff Training and Hiring

Learn the best ways to hire, train, and keep your staff. This seminar will teach you and your staff how to work together and take a team approach. If the Doctor is too busy to train the staff or implement new procedures then we have answers for you! There will be tons of handouts, scripts, manuals, and other human resource material distributed.

Huge party following the seminar to bond with your staff at no extra cost.
Special room rates at the hotel for overnight stay.

November 8th
Goal Setting

Lay the plans for a dream lifestyle. We encourage you to bring your spouse to this seminar. The information is applicable for staff and Doctors so you not only have a booming practice but a balanced life.

January 24th
Day One, First Visit

Learn to do initial exams for high value and higher volume. First impressions will last for the patients full duration of their care. Also learn how to discuss wellness care with symptomatic patients. In the absence of value from a great exam, cost will be only consideration at the report of findings. Do it right on the first visit, and the day two ROF is easy.

All seminars are 12 noon to 6pm at the beautiful Waterfront Hilton in Huntington Beach, CA!

The Class

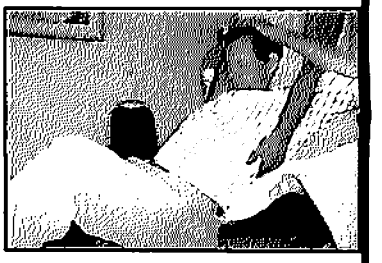

Get you ass etts to this seminar --- You won't be sorry or put to sleep. Expect to learn, because you will. Time permitting, you will see 118 moves from the toes to the nose (organs included). We all inter-react, so the learning goes on and on. Docs have taken this seminar numerous times and repeatedly state they have learned new things each time. About 80% are return docs to each seminar. You will too. Bring a fellow D.C., this will enhance the learning process.

If you have a health probelm or have a patient that is not responding to your care as much as you expect, we can brainstorm it for you, better than a conference call. We can all learn from each other. Chiropractic is a #1 health delivery system, not crisis therapy.

You may say "I don't need the X-Ray". I guarantee you will learn something important even if you don't need the credit. After all, the purpose of C.E. is to expand your knowledge, not to accumulate hours.

Michael Dorausch
12740 Culver Blvd, Suite G
Los Angeles, CA 90066

Dear Dr. Dorausch,

I am writing to inform you of our upcoming seminar on Coding, Compliance and Documentation in the Chiropractic Practice in San Diego on Saturday, September 13th, 2008. The seminar is being held at:

Hyatt Regency La Jolla
3777 La Jolla Village Dr.
San Diego, CA 92122
(858) 552-1234

The seminar is being co-sponsored by the California Chiropractic Association and has been approved by the California Board of Chiropractic Examiners for 12 hours of continuing education, including 4 hours of adjustive technique. (Approval Code #CA-A-08-07-4149).

During the seminar, we will discuss:

- ✓ The proper usage of Evaluation and Management (E/M) Codes. Many Doctors of Chiropractic do not know how to properly use the E/M codes. As a result, doctors inadvertently "upcode" the level of service provided. Repeated misuse of E/M codes can, and have, sparked many investigations by insurance companies and the federal government. On the other hand, a lack of knowledge (or fear) may lead to "down coding". This billing error cost's doctors 56%-74% of their billings for theses codes.
- ✓ How to accurately code and bill for Manipulation. Many Doctors of Chiropractic do not understand the difference between a Chiropractic Manipulative Treatment (CMT), an Osteopathic Manipulative Treatment (OMT) and Manual Therapy (97140). According to the American Medical Association, Doctors of Chiropractic can use the OMT codes. In fact, many manipulations performed by chiropractors should be billed as OMT's rather than CMT's! Learn how to tell what type of manipulation you are providing.
- ✓ How to properly use Therapeutic Procedure Codes. These codes include Therapeutic Exercises (97110), neuromuscular re-education (97124), therapeutic activities (97530) and massage (97112). The CPT codebook requires a "physician or therapist" to work "one-on-one" with the patient. We will discuss the AMA's position regarding who can perform the service and the interposing relationship with your state board rules.

We will also discuss State and Federal laws and how to document medical necessity in chiropractic utilizing the most current outcome assessment tools that are available today.

To register, complete the enclosed form or call our office at 214-965-0244.

Sincerely,

John F. Schmidt, DC

from 10 to 35 pounds and structurally consist of an annulus fibrosis surrounding a nucleus pulposis.

At times of stressful motion of the body, the nucleus pulposis can break through a few of the concentric fibers of the annulus and cause a posterior bulge of the more distal unbroken annulus fibers that subsequently can then press on spinal nerve roots. This is why decompression is so valuable.

How it Works

By taking significant pressure off the intervertebral disks, it can begin to lessen the bulges and protrusions that may be pressing or pinching on the spinal nerve roots. This will help to eradicate an array of symptoms that doctors of chiropractic deal with every day, such as neck pain; limitation on neck rotation; neck, shoulder, and arm pain; and cervico-brachial neuritis.

With continued use, the "Neck-Decompressor®" can also help widen degerated disk spaces. As is already known, intervertebral disks have no direct blood supply and receive their nutrition by imbibition. By using decompression on and off, it produces a pumping action that can assist new cartilaginous growth of cells in the intervertebral disks. By increasing the height of the disk space, it can not only improve pain and other symptoms, it can increase the flexibility of the cervical spine. This can be especially helpful to middle-aged and senior-citizen patients who may have increased compression in the neck area.

Cervical decompression is not recommended for treatment of recent acute injuries such as sprains or strains, severe torticollis, or acute neck pain. Efforts must be made to reduce the large amount of inflammation that accompanies these conditions. After several days of treatment to reduce the inflammation, decompression can gradually be applied. Using decompression for 8 to 10 minutes and gradually working up to 20 to 30 minutes during several weeks of treatment would be a reasonable approach.

Simple To use

The "Neck-Decompressor®" can be used in a standing, sitting, or even in a lying down position. It is placed around the neck with the three bellows open to the front so that there will be no pressure on the throat. Next, connect the two "hook and loop" closures. After closing the air bulb lock cap, inflate to the desired pressure of distraction to obtain a comfortable stretch for 5 to 10 minutes during first use. The time can be gradually lengthened to 20 to 30 minutes after continual use.

The user should not experience any pain or discomfort whatsoever. In fact, as the air pressure is increased, the user may experience pain relief immediately as the distraction takes place. However, this only occurs in 30% to 40% of cases that experience active chronic pain.

The professional price is $47.00. It can be used in a chiropractic office as a modality and charged appropriately for each decompression treatment. With proper use, this product should last for years, but because of the prevalence of improper use of inflated products, this unit has a 15-calender-day return policy from date of delivery. All units are tested to be in 100% perfect working condition before they are delivered to the buyer.

SENSATIONALLY COMFORTABLE

Cervical Decompression

Called the "Neck-Decompressor®" (a new product from Bodyline Comfort Systems) is an inflatable unit that provides graduated decompression. Inflation is accomplished by air pressure. The unit is made up of three bellows (circular air cushions) that surround the neck with an air bulb pump that has a screw cap closure and rubber air-hose lines. The bellows are made of a silk-like material with a velour-type surface to reduce skin chaffing. It weighs only 3/4 of a pound and it is 100% portable.

Comfort and Patient Control

The "Neck-Decompressor®" applies a comfortable stretch on the cervical spine. This comfort allows patients to withstand a greater amount of decompression. The more decompression administered can mean a reduction in the amount of time that decompression needs to be applied to a patient.

The reason that it is extremely comfortable is because the force that is applied to the surface of the head is evenly distributed to all areas of the head. The head contact with the "Neck-Decompressor®" is almost like laying your head on a pillow. A neck-traction device should not place too much pressure on one or more parts of the head, such as the TMJ, ears, condyles, or occiput, because uneven force may create so much discomfort that enough distraction may not be able to be applied to get results.

Improve Results

Due to the increased comfort, the amount of decompressive force can be increased dramatically to improve results. Intervertebral disks have a positive internal pressure anywhere

The "Neck-Decompressor®" allows patients to have complete control of their treatment by providing an air bulb that the patient controls.

Low Professional Price $47.00 Ea.

Read WHAT DOCTORS HAVE TO SAY about the Zone Therapy Seminar:

The process most often missing in traditional chiropractic training is how to use positive suggestion in dealing with the emotional component of the patient. This class clarified ways to do this for the patient at each visit.

—Richard Vail, D.C. (Clayton, GA)

From this dynamic class, one principal idea I'm taking back to my practice is how to get patients more involved in their own healing process.

—Robin Croutch, D.C. (Port Washington,NY)

This was the best class I've taken on how chiropractic really is and how I can begin to change my practice—beginning tomorrow! This should be in colleges and universities as foundation knowledge for every chiropractor and student!

—Anonymous, D.C. (Atlanta, GA)

Changed most all of my practical concepts during this class, about my practice and therapy, to now focus on positive images and words.

—Mark Oliver, D.C. (Nashville, TN)

I am a C.A. Physical Therapist and the most important things I learned were that you must treat the whole person and that their TRUE healing comes from within.

—L. Trowbridge, C.A. (San Angelo, TX)

This class filled in for me what have been "missing links" for me, both professionally and personally. I had lost my faith in my ability to heal and what I learned here has shown me a new way to grow and has restored my faith.

—Joanne Siebert, D.C. (Littleton, CO)

The most important thing I am taking back to my practice is adding positive vibration and certainty toward adjustments. I look forward to adding zone adjustments in my practice and seeing the results. I realized how many people truly suffer from emotional stress and learned a new way of helping them.

—Anonymous (Dallas, TX)

What started out as a class to obtain chiropractic relicensing hours turned out to be an amazing discovery! For 20 years I adjusted the body, alone, and saw a few "miracle" cases, but with Zone Therapy and Concept-Therapy, I get to witness outrageous improvements in people with all kinds of illnesses, almost every day.

You will learn: The Zone Therapy Diagnostic Procedure & Technique; Patient Care and Clinical Management; Optimizing Health Care Through Chiropractic; How To Use Zone Analysis for a Successful and Profitable Practice; and much more!

Each day will include Zone Procedure practice. You will have ample time and adequate assistance on the Diagnostic Practice of Zone Therapy. You will be amazed at the healing results you will experience once you begin the procedure.

"There are ONLY SIX kinds of disturbances that can affect the human body. These are a GLANDULAR disturbance, ELIMINATIVE disturbance, NERVOUS disturbance, DIGESTIVE disturbance, MUSCULAR disturbance, or CIRCULATORY disturbance. All diseased conditions, and all aches and pains, and all other discomforts can be attributed to one or more of these disturbances." In order to correct this, the Zone Doctor adjusts specific vertebrae in the spinal column. Stimulation of the proper vertebrae by the Zone Doctor sends healing energy up to the brain centers that need to be in balance for the body to heal itself. "The Power that made the body is the ONLY Power that heals the body. The body is better able to heal itself when its systems are balanced." Thurman Fleet, D.C., founder of Zone Therapy Adjusting Technique

A Message from Admissions

Why Refer Students to Life Chiropractic College West?

For over a quarter of a century, Life West has remained committed to a curriculum that integrates the three important components of chiropractic education. We offer a strong background in science, a deep understanding of chiropractic philosophy, and training in approximately twelve leading techniques, through its core and elective programs. Students complete their classroom and clinic experience will be prepared for a rewarding career in chiropractic health care.

Talk about a perfect location...We are located in Hayward, California 25 miles southeast of San Francisco, approximately 25 miles north of San Jose and a half a mile from the San Mateo Bridge. We are so proud of our roomy, illuminated classrooms, spacious hallways, state-of-the-art learning resource center and modern health center that offers a variety of adjustive techniques considering each patient's individual needs. Most importantly, we place an emphasis on the need for every person involved with the college to develop a concept of service and social responsibility. The concept of Lasting Purpose has become the hallmark of Life West- "To Give, To Love, To Do, To Serve, Out of Abundance."

Call us for a packet today. Or better yet send us your referral students so that we can provide them with a tour of our campus and they can experience for themselves what we have to offer.

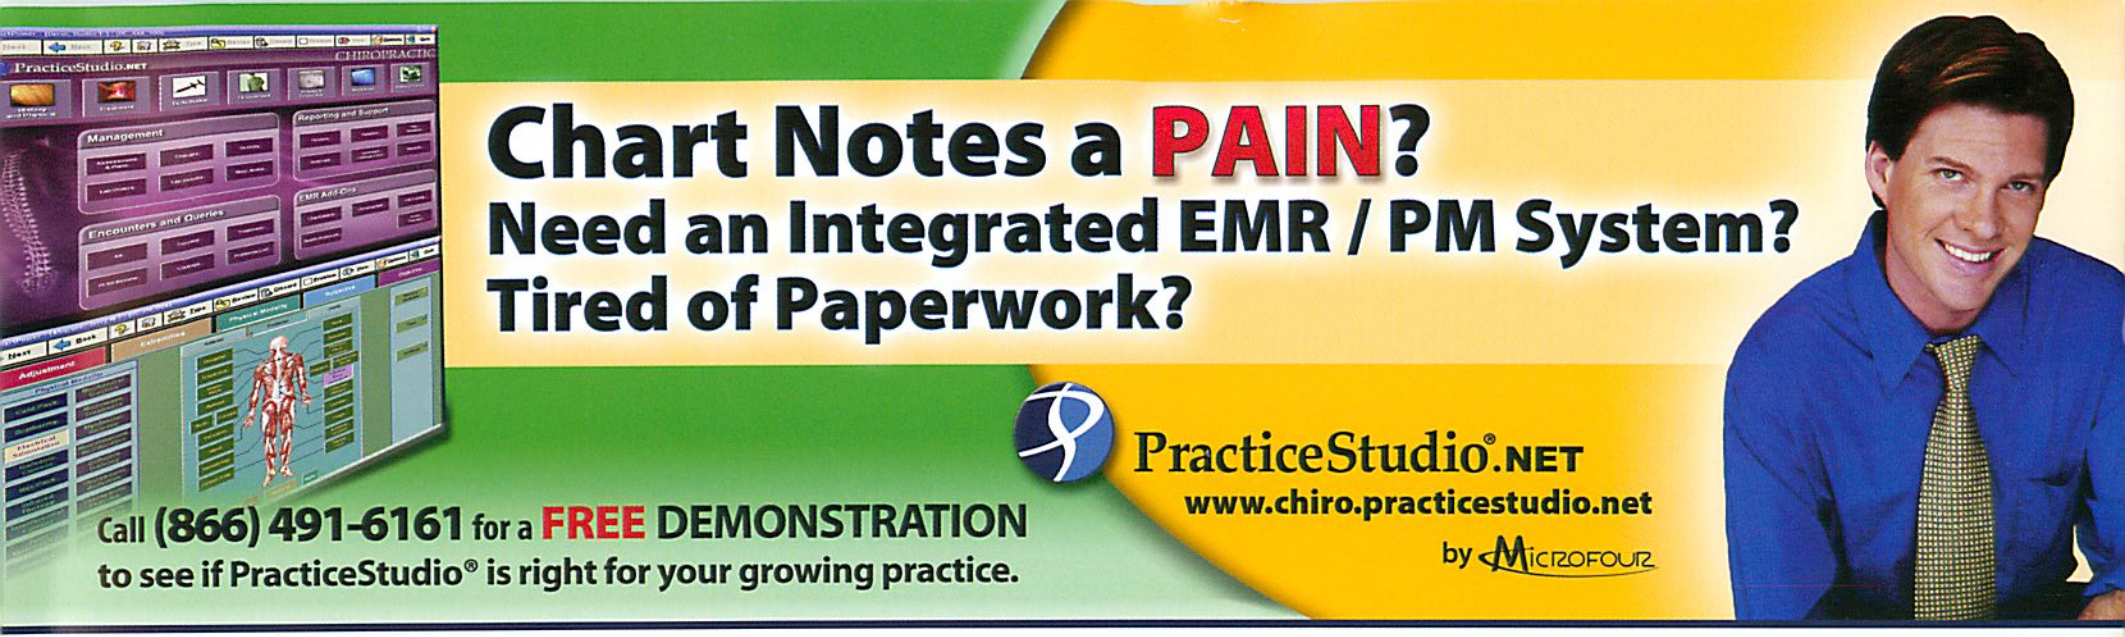

Telephone: 800-788-4476 ext. 4501 or email admissions@lifewest.edu.

Best wishes for a Wonderful Birthday

Feedback from our April Training in Greenwich, CT:

"One of the best seminars I've ever attended."

"I really appreciate the professional standard that is not overridden with anyone's ego—thank you."

"Outstanding coverage of all topics by all the speakers."

"I have been to many conferences. Few teach me anything new. This weekend course was filled with new information I had not heard elsewhere that I am eager to use in my practice, thank you."

"Wonderful to hear hands-on advice from experienced clinicians."

Our goal at Crayhon Research is to make your practice as clinically and financially successful as possible. With that in mind, we offer the highest quality educational seminars throughout the year. We are proud to offer you our Comprehensive Training in Clinical Nutrition twice in California this fall. This is the single most important weekend seminar you can attend in order to upgrade your practice to a state-of-the-art level. This one-of-a-kind seminar will teach you how to use food and nutrients in light of the latest nutrition research and clinical findings in order to help your patients heal. Like all Crayhon Research seminars, the educational material presented is noncommercial, will not promote any products of any kind, but is entirely educational in nature, focused on making your practice the best it can be.

Frequently Asked Questions

Who may attend?
This seminar is designed for health-care practitioners and their staff. Laypersons, media and others may attend as long as they are aware of the advanced level of the material presented.

Do you offer group discounts?
Yes. Groups of five or more may attend for $195.00 each, and ten or more for $150.00 each. These group registrations must be received by September 1st, 2008 in order to receive this rate.

Can I attend single days of the seminar?
Yes. Single days of the seminar are available for one half of what the full registration price is at whatever point you register.

Do you offer student discounts?
Students may have an additional 25% off all listed seminar fees, and this discount may be applied in addition to group discounts. Proof of full-time student status must be faxed or mailed to our office along with your registration in order to receive a student discount.

Do you offer scholarships?
We reserve a few places at each Crayhon Research seminar for practitioners who may not be able to afford the seminar but still wish to attend. If you are a practitioner lacking the means to pay for this conference, but know it would be of value to your practice, write Robert Crayhon a letter detailing your situation and desire to attend. You may fax your letter to (775) 856-3313, or mail it to Robert Crayhon, Crayhon Research, Inc., 5355 Capital Court, Suite 101, Reno, NV 89502.

Will continuing education credits be available?
We expect to be able to offer 12 hours of CEUs for dietitians and nutritionists, and we will be working on receiving them for other health care practitioners. Note that we will not be able to offer CEUs for either chiropractors or medical doctors. We can, however, offer you certificates of attendance which you may then turn in with the course materials in order to apply for CEUs.

ADA Statement
In compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act, we will make every reasonable effort to accommodate any requests you may have. If you have any special requests, please call 775/823.5333 on or before April 10th, 2008.

Speakers

Arthur W. Bartunek, MA is one of the most experienced nutritionists in treating a wide range of difficult health conditions successfully with nutritional and botanical interventions. Working with Robert Bard, MD, in New York City, he has pioneered the use of beta-sitosterol based antioxidant nutrition for promoting the health of cancer patients. Along with Dr. Bard, Art is currently working on an updated version of the book "Prostate Cancer Decoded: Non-Invasive Breakthrough Treatments." Art is expanding this work into a practice-based General Systems Theory approach to diet and supplements for cancer, inflammation, and related conditions.

Robert Crayhon, MS, CN has been called "one of the top ten nutritionists in the country" by Self magazine. He is the author of four books, including Robert Crayhon's Nutrition Made Simple and The Carnitine Miracle. Robert also co-wrote Dr. Atkins Vitanutrient Solution. Robert has been published in the New York Times and the peer-reviewed literature, and has produced over 100 hours of educational CDs for health care practitioners on the latest findings in nutritional biochemistry and their clinical applications. Robert was educated at Colgate University, Oberlin College, and the Union Institute, and is a nationally certified nutritionist through the National Institute of Nutrition Education. He maintains a nutrition practice in New York City.

David Vaughan, NC has more than twenty years of clinical experience in traditional and alternative medicine treating a wide range of ailments with nutrition. A long-time advocate of optimal and personalized nutrition therapy, David has in his career co-founded several healing centers, including Alternative Medical Arts Associates and West Seattle Healing Arts. In addition to teaching nutritional seminars, he consults for physicians and maintains a part-time nutrition practice in Seattle. He is also the creator of FoodPharmacy Diet Therapy Software.

JJ Virgin, CNS is widely recognized as one of the most successful nutrition and fitness experts in America today. A graduate of UCLA, she has attended six different graduate and doctoral programs. She has twenty years experience as a nutritionist, personal trainer, and business owner. She has been teaching workshops on all aspects of business and marketing for health care professionals for the past decade, and is one of the few business trainers in our industry who is actually out in the field working successfully as a practitioner. She has made numerous network television appearances, including two seasons on Dr. Phil, and is regularly featured in magazine, website and newspaper articles.

Jay Wilson, DC has maintained a nutrition and chiropractic practice in Boulder, CO, from 1985 to present. He is one of the most clinically experienced practitioners extant in the application of nutritional, herbal and functional medicine in the treatment of chronically ill patients. He is also an expert in the integration of recent advances in natural therapeutics and laboratory diagnosis into a patient-centered approach towards natural healing. Dr. Wilson has taught numerous post-graduate seminars in clinical nutrition, clinical kinesiology, and herbal medicine, specializing in the integration of recent advances in natural therapeutics and laboratory diagnosis with applied kinesiology techniques. Dr. Wilson was educated at the University of Colorado, Western States Chiropractic College, and the National College of Naturopathic Medicine. He has also received extensive training in Applied and Clinical Kinesiology, Clinical Nutrition, Traditional Chinese Medicine, Functional Medicine, Western and Oriental Herbal Medicine, and Cranio-sacral Therapy. He has also been certified in acupuncture by the Colorado Board of Chiropractic Examiners. Dr. Wilson is a member of the scientific advisory board of Crayhon Research.

THOMPSON TECHNIQUE

Thompson Technique is a system of spinal analysis and adjusting using the Thompson Table to achieve correction of the Vertebral Subluxation. The work was pioneered by Dr. J. Clay Thompson, beginning in 1952, and uses state-of-the-art technology and equipment to achieve the desired goals.

A 1947 graduate of Palmer College, Dr. Thompson realized early in practice, that traditional adjusting methods and tables could cause fatigue in doctors and sometimes be painful to patients. His understanding of biomechanics and his research of Newton's Laws of Motion enabled him to develop this system of analyzing the subluxation and the methods of correction. Today, the Thompson Technique remains a leader in adjusting techniques.

Designed to compliment the Thompson Technique, the Zenith Drop Table's versatility makes it easy to use and can be adapted to many other chiropractic techniques. Its unique system of "weighing" the patient provides the doctor with control, so that all patients may be adjusted with a minimum of force. The drop mechanisms reduce the doctor's effort and fatigue, and instill confidence in the patient.

The Thompson Technique is easily understood and is excellent for today's busy chiropractor. It is valid for the analysis of the subluxation and it verifies that corrections have occurred following the adjustment. The doctor may adjust with specificity and with an economy of effort for greater patient comfort.

The Thompson Table is also an excellent approach to extremity adjusting, including, but not limited to, the knee, shoulder, ribs and the TMJ. With the drop table you can also achieve decompression of a Lumbar disc when there is herniation or bulging.

Dr. Brady is a 1969 graduate of Palmer, Iowa. He has used the Thompson Technique for nearly 40 years and was certified to teach by Dr. Clay Thompson in 1978. The classes are designed to pass along the expertise acquired in those years of teaching and practice. The class explores the development and reasoning behind the concept and its applications. The presentation includes practical instruction supported by a Power Point program and workbook.

A comprehensive manual is available to all attendees. The seminar covers analyses and adjustments for the full spine and the extremities.
